

ROSMASM Performance Check

Having visibility into procurement's financial contributions is vital to an organization's operational and financial success. It also allows you as a procurement professional to demonstrate your value and justify your involvement in future decisions.

ISM, along with CIPS (Chartered Institute of Purchasing & Supply) and A.T. Kearney, is pleased to offer the ROSMASM (Return on Supply Management Assets) Performance Check, a complimentary performance-benchmarking service that allows the supply management global community to consistently measure financial contributions to their companies.

Derived from classic financial frameworks and co-developed with leading CPOs and CFOs from multinational companies, the ROSMA Performance Check serves as a means to attract the recognition of the C-suite and identify improvement opportunities for procurement. In addition to having access to an annual benchmark of the industry, it gives your procurement team a quantifiable assessment based on hard financial results, providing stakeholders and shareholders with a clearer understanding of how procurement's activities influence output.

Check out <http://www.ism.ws/ROSMA/> for a complete description of this new benchmarking tool.

All terms are from the Institute of Supply Management Glossary of Key Supply Management Terms.
See www.ISM.ws/Glossary/